

Specialization: Economics, bachelor's degree, part-time study

B1.B22 Corporate finance annotation

6 ECTS, 216 academic hours.

Control form: exam.

Summary: As a result of studying the basic part of the cycle, the student must possess the following professional competencies:

- the ability to master analytical methods related to financial aspects of the activities of commercial and non-commercial organizations of various organizational and legal forms;
- the ability to analyze and use various sources of information to carrying out financial and economic calculations;
- the ability to develop and substantiate financial and economic indicators, characterizing the activities of commercial and non-commercial organizations various organizational and legal forms, including financial and credit, bodies state power and local self-government, and methods of their calculation;
- the ability to analyze and assess the existing financial and economic risks, draw up and substantiate a forecast of the dynamics of the main financial and economic indicators at the micro-, macro-, meso-level;
- the ability, based on a comprehensive economic and financial analysis, to provide assessment of the results and effectiveness of financial and economic activities organizations of various organizational and legal forms, including financial credit, state and local government bodies;
- the ability to assess the current, short- and long-term financial stability organizations, including credit, design and economic activities;
- the ability to independently or supervise the preparation of assignments and development of financial aspects of design solutions and related regulatory and methodological documents for the implementation of prepared projects;
- the ability to propose specific measures for the implementation of the developed projects and programs; ability to assess financial performance developed projects, taking into account the assessment of financial and economic risks and the factor uncertainty;
- the ability to carry out the development of budgets and financial plans of organizations; the ability to substantiate based on the analysis of financial and economic risks the strategy of behavior of economic agents in various financial markets.

The purpose of this course is to outline the main content of the discipline "Corporate finance"; consider the system of basic management methods for various aspects financial activities; promote the assimilation of students of the new paradigm financial management; to form the logic of making managerial decisions in the field financial activities; familiarize with modern financial instruments

Relationship with other disciplines of the specialty: course "Corporate Finance" interconnected with such disciplines of the specialty "Economics" as "Microeconomics", "Macroeconomics", "Financial Mathematics", etc.

Requirements for the initial levels of knowledge and skills of students: The student must have basic knowledge of statistics, mathematical analysis, game theory, financial mathematics, monetary relations, macroeconomics, microeconomics and finance.