

Specialization: Economics, bachelor's degree, full-time study

B1.B5 Russian language annotation

8 ECTS, 288 academic hours.

Control form: pass/fail.

Summary. Practical Russian language course program for students Russian - Armenian (Slavonic) University consists of language material on the basis of texts in the specialty for the development of professional and communicative skills and abilities of students. A certain place is given to the study of socio-cultural, professional spheres, linguistic and cultural studies, translation, extracurricular work.

The linguistic and regional aspect in teaching RAU students includes the following elements:

- systematic, consistent and purposeful inclusion of information on Russian studies in the process of teaching the Russian language;
- implementation of linguistic and regional studies at the level of all communicative spheres of education;
- use of linguistic and cultural potential, selected for educational purposes from a list of linguistic units with a national-cultural component of semantics, journalistic and artistic texts, works of art

Discipline objectives: The general task of teaching Russian language to RAU students is complex, including practical (communicative) and educational goals.

The communicative goal is the leading one, it is carried out through the formation of students of the necessary language and speech skills.

Learning speech activity is considered as a single interconnected process, which draws attention to the development of both general and specific skills and skills.